VOLUME II No. 21

Downtown merchants take closer look at redevelopment

Minden downtown merchants have agreed to consider the possibility of establishing a business improvement area in the community's core. The consensus was reached at a meeting Thursday evening at the township hall.

The meeting, which in part had been prompted by the development of a grocery store and shopping complex on the by-pass, drew close to 100 people. The Times estimated that over 50 businesses, many of them from outside the immediate downtown Minden area, were represented at the gathering.

A proposal to establish a business improvement area in Minden had been presented to business operators almost a year ago. Interest at that time was minimal and so the idea was allowed to fade.

Interest in the business association of the community, which included representatives from all parts of the municipality, also waned. The decision to consider a business improvement plan for the core area of the village appears to have, for the moment, created two factions - those in the downtown area, and those elsewhere in the township. This division had been predicted by the association chairman, Jerry Pillsworth of the Stedmans store prior to the Thursday meeting. He had indicated that the association was not being active because there was a lack of direction or focus. The creation of a business improvement area may just provide that focus.

The meeting touched on a number of factors which the merchants felt were important in attracting consumers to the core area of the community. Councillor Stu Brandon, who chaired the meeting, told the merchants that the council was committed to spending $25,000 in the downtown area this year for improvements. He pointed out however, that only a limited number of improvements could be carried out for that amount. He suggested that if the merchants created the improvement area additional funds would be available to make an impact on the downtown area.

He said the council recognized a need for more parking in the core section of the community. "The council is committed to spending money to acquire more parking places, to properly mark and improve the existing parking and to provide adequate signing so the parking lots can be located by visitors," Brandon told the merchants.

Brandon said he felt the lighting in the core area was adequate but businessman chairman Jerry Pillsworth disagreed. He commented that the lighting in the fall, winter and early spring months was poor and suggested the council should be striving to provide lighting similar to that in the community of Kirkfield.

The councillor also suggested that the sidewalks in the downtown area need improvement and that the municipality should adopt a property standards by-law to establish minimums for building maintenance and upkeep. "That is the only way you can protect your investments," he commented.

Brandon said those attending the meeting, "...were here tonight because you believe in Minden and believe it is worth improving." He said that group promotion, the use of billboards to attract visitors to Minden, co-operative advertising ventures, perhaps creating a special design for shopping bags, co-ordinating sales events and circulating a community calendar might be some of the items which the group would consider in its effort to promote downtown shopping. He also told the meeting that the municipality would continue the development of the riverside park, especially to the south of the bridge.

Mall development

At several points during the evening the council's role in allowing a proposed shopping complex to be developed on the by-pass was questioned. One member of the audience asked the two councillors who voted in favour of the development, to explain their reasons. Councillor Doug Pritchard commented that the land in question was properly zoned (commercial) for such a development and the developer had verbal approval from the Ministry of Transportation and Communications for an access to Highway 35. He said there was no legal way to stop the development.

One member of the audience who claimed to have contacted the MTC, said that the approval had not been granted for the highway access. Members of council claim that confirmation of the permission had been received prior to the vote several weeks ago.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt said the proposal to open a grocery store on the by-pass could be a serious blow to the downtown area. He said the proposed

New curling facility needed says report

The feasibility study undertaken to assess the need for a new curling recreation complex in the community has recommended that a four rink facility be constructed. The study was released March 12 and representatives of the curling club, Jim Garbutt and Godfrey Saunders, appeared before township council for formal backing of their application for Wintario funds.

The council agreed to the request for the by-law supporting the project, but actual passage of the by-law was delayed until a later meeting to give time for it to be drafted.

The question of where the curling club is to be located appears to be still up in the air. The club's representative said Wednesday that they were concerned about the location that has been suggested, beside the arena at the northeast corner.

Saunders told the council that the location would require at least four or five feet of fill because of the slope of the land in that area. He expressed concern that the addition of that amount of fill may present problems under the floor of the rink after the soil settles. It was also noted that the water line to the arena passes through the proposed area and there could be complications with the roof snow load because of the proximity of the arena building. The area tile bed is also located in that general area.

While the club representatives and the council are in favour of having the facility located within the present park area, discussion continued over exactly where it might be located. Several spots were mentioned including near the present curling building adjacent to the south fence, and near the tennis courts.

Library-cultural centre fund

The following donations have been received for the Minden Library-Cultural Centre fund raising drive:

H. Morgan, two donations totaling $160; Mrs. Irene Stewart $10; Grace Simmons $75; Mrs. P. Hall $10; Mrs. F. Hall $5; J. Sears $12.

The total donations reported in The Times to date is $9,033.03.

Assistant fire chief Don Booth shields his eyes from the heat of the flames as he surveys the burning wreckage of a cottage on Sandy Bay Road. The cottage was the property of William J. McTavish of Rexdale. His son had left the cottage just an hour prior to the time the blaze was reported. The building was engulfed by flames by the time the Minden brigade arrived on the scene. Fire Chief William Jackson said the fire appears to have started close to a wood burning stove. The loss was estimated at $23,000.

Local river to become centre for white water canoe enthusiasts

Haliburton County is about to become the focus of white water competitive canoeing and kayaking in North America.

All the attention is due to some major changes carried out this past week on the riverbed of the Gull River just below the Horseshoe Lake dam. The area has always been a popular spot with white water canoeists, with a number of competitions being held in the swirling waters in the past few weeks.

During the past week however, the river bed was allowed to run dry and earth moving equipment reshaped the contours of the channel. According to Ontario Wild Water Affiliation co-ordinator Roger Parsons, "The narrowing of the river channel and the deepening of some pools will allow the river to be used with a lot less water passing through the dam." He said the work was carried out to create "an Alpine like stream."

The co-ordinator, who spent Friday of last week directing the activities of a power shovel and bull dozer, according to Garbutt would mean the facilities in the building would be available to tennis club members and could result in the formal creation of a tennis club.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt warned against building the facility too close to the present community hall. He said there had been requests to expand the size of that building, and this could mean an increase in parking area.

The reeve also re-iterated the council's stand that the curling facility would be under the control of the municipality once it was built. "I hope you are not trying to run a 'stubborn deal' because it won't change the rules of the game," the reeve cautioned the representatives.

Nesbitt also noted that having the curling club attached to the present arena would mean a savings in maintenance costs. "The same person can provide the security and cleaning," he pointed out.

The club representatives were asked to present the council with their choice of locations in order of preference so consideration could be given at a future meeting.

Saunders noted that the exact location of the building within the park is not the critical point at this time. He said the by-law was the first priority so the application to Wintario could proceed.

said the changes to the river will not only enhance the canoe and kayak run, but will also improve the river by steering the water away from the banks. He said the changes will make the river a more attractive place for fish and prevent erosion of the shoreline.

The work this past weekend marks the conclusion of the second phase of the white water project. The affiliation, through government grants and private donations, has been able to acquire the land on the east shore of the river. The west shore of the river, adjacent to the Mountain Lake Road will remain open to the public with a series of parks and paths being developed there.

Parsons notes that the Gull River site is ideal because the water flows throughout the year, whereas other locations often experience fluctuations in water levels that can make them useless during certain periods. He also pointed out that the drop from Horseshoe Rapids to Minden lake is about 30 feet, distance that is more than double that used during the 1976 Olympic Games in Munich.

The official opening of the new facilities is expected to take place this fall with the Provincial Championships and White Water Slalom, scheduled for September 13 and 14. However, the co-ordinator points out that canoes and kayaks will probably be seen in the river throughout the summer as various clubs and groups use the facility for practise.

Another attraction that will draw a great deal of interest to the area is the 1981 Canadian National Slalom championships scheduled for June 1981. Efforts are also underway to have the North American championships held here in 1982.

Kayaking and white water canoeing involves attempting to negotiate the light boats through a series of gates formed by poles suspended over the river. Points are lost if the paddler or his boat touches the poles or fails to go through a gate in the proper order.

"Long term plans for the site include the building of a club house between the dam and the Horseshoe Lake road.

This will be used for boat storage, local club use and as a provincial training centre," Parsons commented. He also noted that the Minden Wild Water Preserve, as the area will be known, will compliment the canoe museum established at Camp Kandalore. "This will put Haliburton County on the map as the centre of canoeing in Ontario," Parsons said.

Parsons predicted the site would become a major tourist attraction and he welcomed participation in activities at the site by local groups and organizations. He said he would be willing to meet with these groups to discuss this project and how they might participate in activities there.

Anyone wishing more information on the Preserve can contact Parsons at 15 Langside Avenue in Weston, Ontario.

Committee questions asbestos contamination

A concern expressed last week by the Haliburton County Anti-Pollution Committee about the possible contamination of county schools by asbestos fibre appears to have been resolved.

In a letter to the director of education for the Haliburton County Board of Education, Doug Hodgson, Anti-Pollution Committee Chairman Sonya Holliday-Rhodes asked if studies had been carried out in the schools to determine the presence of asbestos fibre.

Hodgson has been on vacation for the past two weeks and was unavailable for comment. However, a spokesman for the board indicated that all schools in the province were requested last summer to survey their premises to ensure such contamination was not present. He said the investigation was carried out in the county and that no sources of asbestos fibre was found in the classrooms.

The spokesman said that in one school it was discovered that asbestos wrap was used on some furnace pipes, but that this was well away from the area used by the students. He said a replacement material is being sought for the wrap in that school.

The letter from the anti-pollution committee noted the hazards of asbestos fibre. "Asbestos can cause impaired lung function, and crippling fatal lung disease," the letter stated. It also listed a number of other problems associated with inhalation of asbestos fibres.

"Our school children are especially susceptible to the effects of inhaled asbestos because of their long life expectancy after exposure and because of the length of exposure," the anti-pollution committee president stated.

The spokesman for the school board said the directive from the Department of Education instructed the board to examine the buildings for steel beams that have been sprayed with an asbestos fire protection coating, broken asbestos counter tops or tiles that may be a source of asbestos fibre contamination. He said that no such sources were located in the schools.

Several classrooms in the Hamilton area have had to be closed because asbestos from these sources has been found in the air.

According to the representative of the board, the restriction placed on the use of asbestos is causing problems for school boards throughout the province. He said that while the asbestos fibre has been recognized as a dangerous substance, the Fire Marshall has not approved a suitable substitute and so the boards are often caught between providing the proper fire protection for a building and protecting the health of the occupants.

Meeting location changed

A change of venue has been announced for the spring seminar of the Federation of Ontario Cottagers. The meeting was scheduled to have been held in the Spring Garden School in North York on March 29.

However the seminar will now be held in the McKee Avenue School in North York, on the same date, beginning at 9 a.m. The school is located at 44 McKee Street, approximately 11 streets north of Sheppard Avenue, east of Yonge Street.

The topics for the meeting include an explanation of the Ministry of Natural Resources policy with regard to the 66 foot shoreline reserve and a discussion of the limited service zone designations.

The president of FOCA, A.O. Shingler, will chair the meeting.

Thieves hit 2 drug stores

Haliburton County pharmacies were targets for thieves this past week.

The drug store in Minden and one in Haliburton were broken into. The intruders appeared to be after drugs as in both cases police report quantities of selected drugs were removed from the premises.

Drug thefts have become a serious concern in Ontario and other parts of the country. It is believed the drugs are peddled on the illicit market.

The break-in at the Minden Pharmacy occurred in the early morning hours of March 12. The intruders forced the front door of the premises to gain entrance. The value of the missing drugs was estimated at $204 with $300 damage being done to the premises. The thieves also made off with five cartons of cigarettes.

The Cauldron Pharmacy in Haliburton was entered during the early hours of March 16. The intruders gained access to the store by a rear window. Some $1300 in drugs were removed from the store and $700 damage was done to the prescription stock when a steel cabinet was knocked over.

Police could not say at this time whether the two incidents were related.

Constable Mike Maher is investigating the Minden break-in while the Haliburton theft is being investigated by Constable Al Bibby.

Editorial

Starting down the road

"The longest journey begins with just one small step."

China's late Chairman Mao would not have been too pleased to have one of his more famous exhortations applied to capitalist endeavours, but we think the above amply describes what took place Thursday evening. During a meeting of Minden area merchants the first tentative step was taken toward the redevelopment of the village's downtown core.

The interest shown by the merchants, close to 100 people were present representing over 50 businesses, is an excellent indication of the concern the business community has for its own, and the village's future. Of equal importance was the polling of downtown merchants which showed a vast majority of those present wanted to know more about a provincial program which provides aid for re-development in a designated commercial zone.

One reason for the large turn-out Thursday evening was no doubt related to the potential "threat" posed by the development of a shopping complex on the Highway 35 by-pass. While "mall-bashing" may satisfy a certain internal need to strike out at what has been perceived as an adversary, it will not resolve anything. Indeed, if the downtown merchants waste time and energy bemoaning the aggressive action of another businessman they will gain nothing, not even the sympathy of the consumers.

The developer, and those participating with him in this scheme, believe they have recognized a need and have taken action, moved positively, to fill it.

The best and only response to that move is action that is equally affirmative.

That means making the downtown a pleasant and inviting place to shop. It means enticing visitors and residents to Minden's core with competitive prices, friendly efficient service and attractive, well-appointed retail premises. It means co-operative promotions, special sales or themes to make shopping in Minden an interesting, and even entertaining, experience. It means taking advantage of the extra trade the shopping complex may draw to the area and making sure it doesn't leave without visiting the downtown area first. It means affirmative action to demonstrate to the consumer that Minden's downtown merchants are interested in their custom.

The record shows that the downtown business community has travelled this road before and fallen short of success. It is difficult to predict at this point whether the effort to organize a downtown redevelopment effort will also be lost through ennui. Certainly the "threat" that spurred such a large crowd Thursday is not about to evaporate and even if it did, the business community has indicated to itself, and to the people it serves, that improvements are needed downtown. To back down now, regardless of the realities on the by-pass, would be tantamount to telling the community that the interest of the downtown merchants does not extend beyond the profit and loss statement.

The success of the business improvement area program depends heavily on the interest of those directly involved. Without the strong backing of the downtown merchants, little will be accomplished.

One other point is worth keeping in mind. The effect of the meeting Thursday evening was to split the Anson, Hindon and Minden business community into two camps, those downtown and others outside the core.

While the split is needed, at least temporarily, to accomplish the redevelopment efforts downtown, merchants from all parts of the municipality, or indeed the entire county, should acknowledge the interdependence of the business community and the benefits to be gained in co-operation. Improvements to Minden's core should have a positive impact on all parts of the local economy. Those business people outside the area defined as "downtown" should not feel, or be made to feel,

"And then son, your father announced he would not shave until inflation was finally wrestled to the ground."

abandoned. Indeed, efforts should be made to include those from outside the core in activities in which their business can benefit.

Downtown redevelopment will be a long and arduous journey, one in fact that may never be completed as improvements will always be needed. But it is a journey that must be started soon if the draining of vitality from the core is to be stemmed.

Minden's downtown business district is at a landmark point in its development. What happens in the next few months will provide an indication of whether the area will prosper and grow with forward-looking progressive ideas, or continue on its present path.

We opt for the former.

Editor:

Your January 30 editorial (Hydro's pitch) staunchly supports citizens' rights to speak out and, if need be, challenge issues affecting their communities.

Ontario Hydro couldn't agree more. We spend a great deal of time and money encouraging citizens to become involved and be heard on issues of mutual interest. It's time and money well spent.

Contrary to what was reported, Ontario Hydro was not seeking to reduce public involvement by asking for exemption from the by-law provisions which require application to the municipal council for zoning and planning changes. We have no intention of denying the rights of citizens to be heard.

Ontario Hydro projects are subject to the provisions of The Environmental Assessment Act. As part of the approval process, Ontario Hydro has a public involvement program, whereby elected representatives, special interest groups, and individual citizens have an opportunity to be involved in the environmental assessment process, which leads to the selection and approval of the location for new electric power facilities.

I met with the Council of the Township of Anson, Hindon and Minden to discuss Restricted Area By-law No. 43-79. The purpose of my attendance at the Council meeting was to request a change in the public uses clause of By-law No. 43-79 in order to avoid duplication in the approvals process for new electric power facilities. Duplication costs time and money.

Our aim is to provide a service that is as reliable and at as low a cost as possible and encourage citizens to be involved in location studies.

Ontario Hydro.

REPORT FROM QUEEN'S PARK

By John Eakins, M.P.P.

The new session of the Ontario Legislature got underway on Tuesday of last week. Each week I will be reporting to you on the activities of the House and in particular my involvement in the Legislature as your member. I hope to be actively involved in a number of areas and I shall keep you informed. Better still, why not come down to Queen's Park as my guest and watch a session first hand. I will be pleased to make arrangements.

Getting back to the opening day, pomp and pageantry surrounds the opening of each new session of the Legislature. The Lieutenant-Governor, in a horse drawn landau and flanked by the Governor-General's Horse Guard, leads the ceremonial procession to the front steps of the Legislative Building. Her Honour enters the House, takes her place on the Speaker's dais, and proceeds to read the Speech from the Throne. This speech reviews the record of the Government, and informs the public of the Government's policies and intentions for the coming session.

I will be discussing the contents of the Throne Speech in following reports.

On this occasion, my mind goes back to stories of the Legislative Building's first opening in April 1893. At that time the Premier was Sir Oliver Mowat and he rode the same route up University Avenue in a fierce windstorm. The Provincial Government had just moved from their modest quarters on Front Street. The ground for the new building had been dedicated in 1860 by the Prince of Wales.

Sir Oliver turned to the Clerk and said, "Well Charlie, we built it but we'll never fill it in 100 years. Little did he realize that Ontario's 1893 population of 2 million would burgeon to its estimated present day figure of 8 1/2 million, and that the Ontario budget would grow to a whopping $15 billion, rivalling that of New York State and California.

Nor did he realize that Ontario Government Ministries would occupy several new buildings east of Queen's Park.

Council considers housing survey

The Ontario Ministry of Housing may be carrying out a survey of housing needs in the municipality of Anson, Hindon and Minden. The council heard a presentation on subsidized housing March 12.

The council was told that the study would determine the need for geared-to-income housing in the municipality.

Representatives of Lutterworth Township, Reeve Ron Gambell, and Glamorgan Township, Clerk-Treasurer Elva Bates, were also on hand for the meeting. If these municipalities, and others in the area are interested in taking part in the study the ministry representatives have indicated the scope of the investigation can be expanded.

The presentation to the Minden council included a complex points up the need for a development plan for the community with proper by-laws so that the municipality has some control over the location of commercial growth in the village.

"We can't go on waiting," he commented, "council should be able to say 'no' to certain development if it is not in the best interests of the community. I believe in free enterprise to a certain point," the reeve said, "but we should also be interested in protecting those who are already established here."

One member of the audience suggested that the council create a planning board to control growth in the municipality. Another suggested that businesses immediately adjacent to any development should be notified before it is approved, similar to the situation now when a change in zoning is requested.

The reeve said that the council should bear a portion of the blame for the lack of parking facilities in the core area of the village. "We have to rehabilitate the downtown area and this meeting could be the start of that work," the reeve commented. He had told the gathering at the outset that he was in favour of the proposed business improvement area and felt the Thursday meeting could be the forum for getting it started.

At that point one member of the audience called out, "Who is going to re-invest in the downtown area now?" From at least several areas of the room businessmen indicated their continued interest in the downtown area and this positive mood was reflected a short while later in a poll.

The merchants in the downtown area (defined as that area between Dollo's IGA, Minden Rent-All and the beer store) were asked if they wished to have the council enact a by-law establishing a business improvement area. Only a few indicated their objection and the reeve said the council will proceed.

The endorsement was one of several steps which must be taken before the business improvement area can be created. It reflected an endorsement of the plan in principle and it will come under closer scrutiny in the next few weeks as details are studied by merchants within the area concerned.

talk and slide program narrated by Sid Palmer and Lois Bain of the housing ministry. They explained the various aspects of the study and how the findings in other municipalities have resulted in certain kinds of assisted housing units being constructed. The representatives estimated that it could be up to two years from the start of the study to the construction of the units.

Lutterworth Reeve Ron Gambell suggested that students could be hired to carry out the survey program this summer. It was pointed out that a similar survey attempted several years ago provided inconclusive results as not all the surveys were completed.

"To be effective, we need to talk to everyone who may be a potential user of subsidized housing," Bain commented. "The best way of doing this is by personally talking to the people. Using the students to reach these people is an excellent idea."

The housing representatives noted that the results of the survey are confidential.

The Anson, Hindon and

Minden township council has been urging other townships to get involved in the survey so that the results could be compiled on a regional basis. The suggestion has received a mixed reaction up to this point. A meeting has been scheduled for later this month in an effort to show the township representatives of Snowdon, Lutterworth and Stanhope townships the benefits of the housing survey and to encourage their participation.

Easement granted to developer

Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council have given official approval for the creation of a shopping complex on the Highway 35 by-pass. The approval came in the form of an easement agreement that will allow the developer to maintain an access to Highway 35. A 66 is currently inside the fence, actually belongs to the municipality and that he has no claim to it.

The easement agreement eliminates any municipal objections to the project and clears the way for the development to begin. Final agreement between the present owner of the property, Peterborough Lumber, and the developer, Daniel Lang Development Limited, is still under negotiation.

The developer has announced he intends to have a Red and White grocery store, a smaller Peterborough Lumber outlet and another retail outlet included in the project. He has said he hopes the stores can be open by May 24.

foot municipally owned road allowance separates the Peterborough Lumber property from the highway.

The terms of the easement include that the entrance to the property remain opposite to South Water Street on the other side of the highway, that a median be installed at the entrance and that the owner acknowledge that the portion of the road allowance, which

Minden plays perfect host in tri-county tourney

The Minden Bantam hockey club were gracious hosts Saturday during the Tri-County Bantam Tournament in Minden.

In the qualifying game of the tournament Minden were downed 3-1 by Haliburton. The Minden boys put on a stronger offensive performance in their second game, but lacked the defence as Lakefield scored six goals in the last two periods to sweep past them 7-3.

The loss to Haliburton demoted Minden to the consolation ranks, while Haliburton was lifted into the championship round.

With a vast improvement from their game with Minden, Haliburton won the semi-final game 1-1 (Haliburton scored the first goal), then went on to destroy Keswick 7-3 in the championship match.

The first period of the Haliburton-Minden game was scoreless as neither team allowed the opposition many scoring opportunities.

Charlie Teljeur and Rick Barnum scored on rebounds in the second period to put the Haliburton team in front 2-0.

Andrew Shapiera dropped the goose-egg from Minden's side of the score-board with :56 seconds left in the period. Shapiera drifted a wrist-shot from the left face-off circle that sailed under the Haliburton goaltender's glove.

The third period saw good goaltending from both sides, as the only goal of the period was scored by Marla MacNaull, for Haliburton.

MacNaull rifled a slap-shot from the point that found an opening between Scott Danilko's legs.

Despite the 3-1 loss to Haliburton, Minden came out of the dressing room flying in their first consolation round game.

Andrew Shapiera hit the target first for Minden 4:06 into the game, with a low shot from the slot area.

Lakefield tied the game just over two minutes later, but Larry Miscio put Minden back in command with a goal late in the opening frame.

The last two periods of the game were both Lakefield's.

With three goals in each of the final two periods, they were able to blow Minden out of their own arena.

Minden's third goal of the game came with just over two minutes left to play. Andrew Shapiera lifted a shot from behind the net that bounced off Kevin Forbes chest and dropped behind the goal-line. Forbes was credited with the goal.

Lakefield added their last

"Where are my defence" seems to be what Minden Bantam goaltender Scott Danilko is thinking as a Lakefield centre muscles his way in front of the net after a loose puck. The action was part of the weekend tournament in which the entry from Haliburton took the championship.

goal with 1:13 remaining in the match to give them the 7-3 victory.

Lakefield continued their winning ways with another 7-3 win. This time it was against Bracebridge in the consolation final.

The Haliburton team was awarded the Reginald Cramp Memorial Trophy, donated by Mrs. L. Cramp, and gold medallions, donated by Bill Heaton, for their championship triumph.

Monday Ladies

Penny Obee upped her record to 4-0 with a convincing 13-4 drubbing of the Lois Titus foursome. In fact, Obee's team has been overwhelming the opposition in this final schedule.

In her four consecutive victories, she has amassed 45 points while allowing only 12 points to be scored against her rink. The race seems to be for the runner-up position. Chris Dollo dumped Catherine Kellett 10-4 to move into sole possession of second place with 20 points from 2 wins and 2 losses. Kellett and Titus have one win in four outings. With just two games remaining Dollo has a mathematical chance of catching Obee but it seems highly unlikely.

Tuesday Ladies

It's a much closer contest in this league as Bev Woods shows the way with 30 points - just one win up on Chris Dollo and Lois Titus and 20 points in front of Nancy Garbutt. Wood moved into first place with a 7-2 victory over Titus while Garbutt surprised Dollo by drubbing her 11-1. With two weeks of play remaining, all spots are still up for grabs.

Tuesday Mens

After four weeks of play

Neil Burk's team is undefeated, sporting 3 wins and a tie for 35 points. Burk disposed of Garth Kellett 9-3 to solidify his hold on first place. In close pursuit is the Bob Austin quartet with 25 points following Austin's 11-7 decision over Don Blakey.

Austin, winner of this season's two previous schedules, has two wins and one tie in his three games. With a game in hand on Burk, he is still in the thick of the race.

Four teams have 20 points from 2-2 records following last week's action. Kellett's loss to Burk dropped him into this group, joining Doug Cross, Alex Millar and Paul Prentice. Millar defeated Cross 8-4 while Prentice crushed Jim Garbutt 10-2. Garbutt is pointless in three matches while Blakey has one win in four contests.

Home leads final series

Home Hardware has taken the lead in the Men's Recreational Hockey finals. The first game in a best of three series was played Monday evening with the Home team defeating the Rockcliffe Hotel 9-3.

John Barkwell led the attack for Home Hardware with a five goal performance. Dean Hartwick picked up two goals and assisted on four others. The other two Home goals were scored by Dave Dollo. Sharing the assisting honours for the winning team were Barry Smith, John Lawson, Kevin Newell, Mark Derry with a pair and Paul Cummins.

Rockcliffe goal getters were Leigh Bull, Dean Hewitt and John Welch. Bill Leary assisted on one tally with Dean Hewitt picking up assists on two others.

Rockcliffe held the Home team to a 2-1 edge in the first frame but the Home squad piled up four unanswered goals in the second period to build a commanding lead.

The game was delayed midway through the first period when Home netminder Randy Ellison was struck on the helmet by the puck. The shot opened a gash on his forehead that required a trip to the hospital for stitches. Lynn Forsyth was in the net for Rockcliffe.

The series continues next Monday evening when the Home Hardware team could wrap up the recreational hockey season with a win. Game time is 8 p.m.

Novice

The Minden Novice team was the consolation round champions in a four-team tournament held in Haliburton on the weekend.

Minden lost their first game 4-2 to Haliburton (Team II). The game was a disappointment for the Minden club because they had defeated the same Haliburton team twice in the play-offs.

Scott Russell netted both Minden goals, while Dean Brownson earned a hat-trick for Haliburton and Darron Byers added the other Haliburton score.

Despite a hard-fought third period neither team was able to put the puck behind the red hot goaltenders.

Haliburton (Team II) advanced into the championship final against Haliburton (Team I). Minden went on to win the consolation round with a 5-0 victory over Fenelon Falls.

Jeff Francis and Scott Russell were the Minden goal-scorers in their final game. Francis notched a hat-trick and Russell added two goals.

Atoms

Minden was held scoreless all week, as the Atom team was shut-out 2-0 and 1-0 by Haliburton.

The first game was on Wednesday, March 12 in Haliburton, and the second match in the round-robin consolation play-off was held in Minden on Thursday, March 13.

Tykes

The Minden Tykes, one of Minden's most successful teams, defeated Lakefield 1-0, in Lakefield, on Sunday, March 16.

The Minden club has only lost twice in eight games, with one of the losses being a 2-0 decision to Lakefield.

Minden got revenge, because of flawless goaltending from Lorne Greer, and Aaron Hie's goal.

The Minden players are looking forward with anticipation to their tournament on March 29.

Up-coming games

Novice - Saturday, March 22 at 10:00 a.m. Haliburton (Team II) at Minden. This is the third game of a best-of-five series which Minden leads two games to none. The Novice club is the only Minden team left in championship play, and they have a chance to become the new Tri-County champions.

Bantam - Sunday, March 23 at 4:30 p.m. Woodville T.C. Bantams at Minden. Grudge Match - Coaches and Managers in Minor Hockey are playing a grudge match against the "bad guys", the referees.

One of the most common ways of getting an early jump on the growing season is to start your plants in a coldframe or hotbed. While the two are of similar construction, each can provide a different asset for the gardener. Ian Smith, an extension horticulturalist with the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food offers some tips on building and using a coldframe or hotbed.

Hotbeds and coldframes were used extensively by home gardeners in the 1960's and earlier to grow young plants before transplanting them into the garden. In recent years, the use of these structures has declined because of the increased number of garden centers selling young plants, and the popularity of small plastic greenhouses. Now, interest in hotbeds and coldframes is picking up because of the current popularity of home gardening, and the trend toward less expensive alternatives to greenhouses.

Hotbeds and coldframes are similar structures. They are simply bottomless boxes made from wood or masonry, fitted with a sloping roof of glass or plastic. The difference between the two is that hotbeds incorporate bottom heat so they can be used earlier in the spring, and later in the fall.

Construction

Both coldframes and hotbeds require a protected, well-drained, sunny location, preferably on the south side of a building. Hotbeds, however, require deeper excavation than coldframes. If you intend to heat your hotbed with manure, you need to dig an area about 60 centimetres (2 feet) deep. Dig an area half that deep if you plan to use electric cables for heat. You can either set coldframes in shallow pits 20 to 30 centimetres (8 to 12 inches) deep, or set them directly on top of the soil, banking the soil up around the sides.

Many home gardeners use old stormwindows as covers for coldframes or hotbeds. For this reason, most frames are 1.8 metres (6 feet) wide, with the length determined by the number of windows, or glass sashes used. The standard measurement of old stormwindows is 0.9 metres (3 feet) by 1.8 metres (6 feet).

The frames are usually built with planks 20 centimetres (12 inches) high at the back, and 20 centimetres (8 inches) high at the front. This forms a slope for the glass or plastic cover so it can shed water, and get the maximum benefit of the sun. The planks are spiked together, and 2 x 4 supports are added to hold the sashes.

Hotbeds

Traditionally, fresh horse manure was used to heat hotbeds, but the supply is now scarce in most areas. Using manure also has a number of disadvantages, primarily the labor required to pile it into the pit, and to manage it properly to generate the required temperatures. As a result, most gardeners use electric heating cables.

One heating cable set (18 metres or 60 feet in length) provides enough heat for 2.3 square metres (36 square feet). This area is the equivalent of a two-sash hotbed. Lay the cable on a bed of sand or fine soil. Place a 1.25 centimetre (1/2-inch) wire-mesh screen on top of the cable to protect it from damage when the soil is worked. Cover the cable with 10 to 15 centimetres (4 to 6 inches) of good planting soil. One or more thermostats are required for hotbeds that need more than one heating cable set.

You can plant seeds directly into the soil, or set flats directly on top of heating cables. The method used depends on the type of plants, and the amount of handling they require. Electrically heated hotbeds require more water than manure beds. Keep the soil moist, but not saturated.

During cold nights, when bottom heat is insufficient, cover the frames with straw, old rugs, or sacks. On warm, sunny days, temperatures in the frames will rise rapidly, which can damage or kill the young plants. To prevent damage, open the sashes a bit to provide ventilation. Ventilation is also important to control high humidity which encourages damping-off and other diseases.

Cold frames

Coldframes are used most often to harden young plants, such as tomatoes started indoors, for an early start in the garden. Home gardeners also find them handy for direct seeding of cold-hardy seeds, such as lettuce or cabbage, and for flats of seed crops.

Cold frames can be constructed from almost any type of material, including hay bales and cement blocks. This is because they are usually less permanent than hotbeds.

Hotbeds and coldframes can help you get an early start in the garden, but they can also be used for a variety of practical purposes throughout the year. Use them to store over-wintering bulbs and hardy perennials in winter, for seeding perennial plants in summer, and for an early winter lettuce crop in the fall.

A Penney's Worth

by Yvonne Penney

I guess we are finally going to get some winter. We've had some blustery weather this past week. Many of our children in the area are suffering from chicken-pox and measles.

Belated congratulations to Dawn Elliott who has been selected to serve as a page in the Ontario Legislature at Queen's Park. Dawn is really looking forward to her stay in Toronto and meeting young people from other parts of the province. Dawn is a sweet young lady whom I am sure will make a great ambassador for Haliburton County.

Jamie Bacon has had the cast removed from his leg which he has worn for six weeks. A body cast can be a real drag when you are three years old.

Best wishes to Charlie Morisson who is a patient in a Peterborough Hospital.

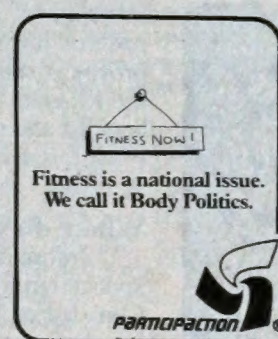

Our condolences to the family of the late Joe Blair of Haliburton. He has gone to his rest after much suffering.

Many families have headed south for the March school break.

From the United Church Bulletin of March 16 - "A lot of trouble in this world is caused by people trying to be important".

I wonder what type of punishment will be received by the two men who let the police constable suffer for so long and finally lose his life in the line of duty. His young widow is left with three small children to raise. I sometimes think we should bring back the death penalty to our judicial system.

Carolyn Kinsman and friend spent the weekend with her parents, Richard and Dorothy Kinsman.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of ELMER RUSSELL, passed away March 15, 1979.

In tears we saw you sinking
We watched you fade away.
Our hearts were almost broken

You fought so hard to stay.
But when we saw you sleeping
So peaceful free from pain
We could not wish you back
To suffer that again.

Always remembered by
